

Lady Sohair Salam Saber

Biography

Sohair Salam Saber is a distinguished businesswoman, philanthropist, and an indomitable force at the intersection of global justice, geopolitics, and the New Space Age. Described as a leader defined by innovation, resilience, and diplomacy, her career is a rare synthesis of high-stakes international law, entrepreneurial leadership, and visionary policymaking for humanity's newest frontiers. She operates where law and global governance converge, shaping solutions for the world's most complex challenges.

As President of The Hague Institute for Global Justice, Sohair Salam Saber has revitalized and transformed the organization into a premier global action-driven organization. Her leadership there is grounded in decades of practical experience. As Principal of the international law firm Wasel & Wasel, she advises sovereign states and Fortune industries on political risk and founded a chamber for elite arbitrators.

Leveraging the revitalized Institute, Saber has positioned herself at the forefront of space governance. She established "The Off-World Approach" and was instrumental in launching "The Washington Compact", a groundbreaking international instrument establishing norms for commercial space operations. This instrument has achieved rapid adoption and global ratification by major corporations, spaceports, and former NASA administrators, and formally submitted to the United Nations.
